

Our Priorities and Action Plan

This strategy identifies four key priority areas which will shape the way the Council will work with its partners to address homelessness in the borough. These priorities are informed by the homelessness evidence base, feedback from service users, members of staff and partners represented in the Rugby Homelessness Forum.

The priorities are focused on preventing homelessness, supporting households who are already homeless or threatened with homelessness and ensuring a range of options available to alleviate homelessness. Homelessness is complex and requires a multi-agency approach. Collaboration with partner agencies, such as Public Health to achieve positive health outcomes for homeless households who are more likely to experience health problems and inequality than the general population is key. We will deliver these priorities through our Action Plan as set out on page 35.

Statutory Homelessness Duties Explained

Local Authorities have a series of duties if a person meets the statutory definition of homelessness and are eligible for assistance. Irrespective of any duties owed and priority need, anyone seeking assistance will be provided with advice and support.

Relief Duty

Local authorities have a duty to take reasonable steps to relieve an applicant's homelessness.

The relief duty is owed to all eligible applicants who are homeless, irrespective of 'priority need' or 'intentional homelessness'. At the Relief stage applicants with no 'local connection' to the local authority where they have made their request for homelessness assistance can be referred to a 'local authority where they do have a 'local connection'.

If the local authority has reason to believe the applicant is in priority need, it may have a duty to provide interim accommodation during the relief duty.

The duty lasts up to 56 days but may be extended if no main duty is owed.

The relief duty may mean for example, helping an applicant to secure housing in the private sector with tenancy for 6 or more months, placing them in supported accommodation or deciding if they qualify for social housing.

Prevention Duty

Local authorities have a duty to take reasonable steps to prevent an applicant's homelessness.

The prevention duty is owed to all eligible applicants threatened with homelessness in the next 56 days, irrespective of 'local connection', 'priority need' or 'intentional homelessness'.

The duty is also owed where a valid Section 21 notice has been served which expires within 56 days.

The prevention duty may mean for example, negotiating with a landlord or family member, providing mediation, helping to reduce rent arrears, or securing alternative accommodation before a household becomes homeless.

Main Duty

The main duty is owed to applicants whose homelessness has not been prevented or relieved, who are homeless through no fault of their own, and who are in priority need.

It places a duty on the local authority to secure an accommodation for their occupation until the Duty is ended. That duty is ended successfully when an applicant accepts an offer of social housing or a private rented tenancy for 12-months. The main duty can end unsuccessfully if for example the applicant abandons or loses their temporary accommodation provided to meet the main duty; refuses a suitable offer of accommodation or ceases to be eligible.

Applicants who are in priority need but are intentionally homeless may receive advice and assistance, and temporary accommodation for a short period of time whilst they make alternative accommodation arrangements.

Key terms

- Eligibility for homelessness assistance depends on immigration and residence status. Different rules apply for British and Irish nationals, and for people from abroad.
- A Section 21 eviction notice is a legal route through which landlords can evict tenants who have an assured shorthold tenancy.
- People in priority need include those who are: pregnant or have children; care leavers aged 18 to 21; aged 16 or 17 and not owed a Children Act duty; homeless as a result of domestic abuse; homeless due to flood, fire or other disaster; and those deemed by the local authority to be 'vulnerable' due to, for example, mental or physical disabilities, old age, having been in custody or the armed forces.
- Duty to Refer Homelessness Reduction Act 2017 places a duty on specified public authorities to refer service users who they think may be homeless or threatened with homelessness to local authority homelessness/housing options teams. This is designed to encourage public authorities to work together and build strong partnerships to intervene and prevent homelessness by

Disclaimer

Local Authorities report detailed information on homelessness applications to the Department of Levelling Up, Housing and Communities (DLUHC) through Homelessness Case Level Information Collection (H-CLIC).

Government Homelessness Statutory Statistical Releases are based on these submissions. Data used in this strategy detailing homelessness activities and homeless applicants are mostly based on the above statistical releases.

However, where the above source is cited in this strategy, the data should be treated with caution as the statistical submission to government for Rugby Borough Council 2021/22 does not appear to have collated. The most likely reason for this is the pressures brought about by the covid 19 pandemic and the reallocation of resource to manage the emergency response. It is believed the absence of this data has not distorted the overall homeless picture and efforts over the next 12 months by the housing steering group will be taken to try and extrapolate information from IT systems to obtain this data.

To compensate for the missing data and enable an overview of the level of homelessness and relevant activities in Rugby over the last 5 years, the average of 2022/23 and 2023/24 data has been used.
