SITE S5 - Policy

The draft plan to develop on green belt land is obviously contradictory to protect it. In order to surmount the green belt is conveniently being identified as grey land.

The national planning policy framework should be adhered to and only in exceptional circumstances should changes be made to green belt land

Ch 1 Site 305 398

In the National Planning policy framework the big consideration of climate change should ensure that where the new development would be located has areas to cycle and walk and have good public transport. The public transport in the small village of Wolsey is poor.

Areas outside of the green belt should be used and retain the green belt.

Part B – Please use a separate sheet for each policy or site you wish to comment on

6. Give consideration to sites closer to urban areas in Rugby and Coventry. It is sad to think of the loss of so much green belt across villages
